Information about PROAP-CAPES financial resources

The financial resources supporting research activities in the Graduate Program in Soil Science at UFC are primarily provided by PROAP-CAPES. Additional funding, when available, originates from research projects directly associated with the program's faculty members. Accountability for the use of these resources, by both advisors and students, is handled by the Program Coordination, which publishes detailed expenditure reports in the Federal University of Ceará's Electronic Information System (SEI). These reports are accessible to any interested parties. Below are the amounts received for the period from 2021-2024.
